

BNL Dutch row houses 1960

Version 1.0

The history

In the 1960ies Modernism was at its peak. In the Netherlands hundreds of thousands of houses were built in efficient ways. Rowhouses were arranged in blocks and together with flats and shopping areas, schools and other facilities they were arranged into neighborhoods. All cities and most of the villages have these areas. And although they are being loathed these days, in that time they were seen as modern, clean, beautiful and spacey for most family households.

The Models

Wouter Soethout, better known as w_swietwoot made the four models that are contained in this set. He did not have time to lot them and therefore FrankU did that for him. And as they are both BNL Team members, this is a BNL cooperation project.

The Lots

The set contains 12 lots.

All lots are R$$.

Four lots are Stage 3, 2 wide and 3 deep

Four lots are Stage 3, 3 wide and 3 deep. They contain one block of housing plus a strip of parking or a row of garages.

Four lots are Stage 4, 2 wide and 2 deep.

In these lots I use a lot of prop families, so there is a bit of variation. Even the building models vary in random ways.

The Dependencies

The model files are part of the set.

Otherwise you need the following files. Quite common ones, I suppose.
